

Abdominal imaging diagnosis

S K Misser, MB ChB, FCRad (D)
Lake Smit and Partners, Durban

Presentation

A 53-year-old woman, of otherwise excellent health, presented with acute abdominal pain, severe cramping and vomiting. Describe the relevant findings and provide the most appropriate clinical diagnosis. Please submit your response to shalendramisser@hotmail.com before the end of April. The winner will receive R1 000. A diagnosis will appear in the next issue of the SAJR.

Fig. 1a. Erect abdominal X-ray.

Fig. 1b. PA chest X-ray.

Fig. 1c. US of right iliac fossa.

Figs 2a and 2b. Axial post-IV contrast CT of abdomen.

2c. Coronal CT reformat.